

One of us

Soledad has been a blessing in our lives since she has arrived. She is a very nice and patient person and a sweet nanny to Angela (our 21months old girl). After spending three months together, we have already feel she is part of our family.

With an intelligent, kind and passionate personality, Soledad spends all day together making different fun activities every single day. They went to the zoo, museum of nature and science, Children's museum, different playgrounds, library or just a walk in the neighborhood. In a short three months, Soledad already potty trained Angela while she is only months! We are glad to see at this young age, She is already very responsible and committed to her work, and most importantly, she takes good care of Angela with all loving touches and attention to details. Her extraordinary patience is a gift to us especially Angela, Angela now is loving playing and hanging out with Soledad.

Soledad not only helps Angela in her physical and motor skills but also she helps develop Angela's intellectual and emotion skills. She is always encouraging Angela to talk, communicate all her needs, and recognize objects, colors by playing fun games. I am surprised to see that Angela is behaving so well while with Soledad, she went to bath on her own and asking for milk on her own!!! And also baby at her age (the terrible twos) are usually not very good at sharing, however, Angela just loves to share her loved things with Soledad and others. Apparently, Soledad has been teaching her some really good manners. And also, at the beginning, Angela was quite afraid of snow, Soledad helped Angela conquered her own fear of snow by building a snow man together, encouraging her walking in the snow and making it a fun play for her.

Talking about her goals, to know the culture here in the US, we think that Soledad is taking all advantages this program and our family is giving to her. She is a very enthusiastic and energetic person willing to explore further than her possibilities. She loves to exercise continuously. She loves outdoors and season activities like skating during the winter, hiking or camping in the spring or summer. She also loves to travel and enjoy as much as she can during her free time. She is open to try any type of food or traditions our culture has and she always shares with us her own traditions and culture. We are looking forward Angela to acquire her native language, which is Spanish in all this year that we are spending together as well.

For all that, we have described, we would love to nominate our Au pair Lineth Soledad in the Au pair of the year contest. We totally agree she deserves it. Therefore, we would love to recognize her for what she simply is. Our perfect match. We are happy to have her with us. She has showed us her passion about caring children.
